McDonald's sees red on tomato price hike, takes it off menu

BUT SOME restaurant owners say that if the price rise in essentials such as tomatoes continues for long then eateries will have to either raise menu prices or cut items. "The monsoon season does tend to fuel inflation in agricultural commodities because of their perishable nature," says Anurag Katriar, founder Indigo Hospitality and trustee, National Restaurant Association of India (NRAI), an apex body of eateries in the country. "If this trend persists for long, restaurants may have to either curtail use of the perishable item or increase menu prices," Katriar, who runs fine-dining restaurants such as Indigo and Neel in Mumbai and Pune, said. Besides tomatoes, price of ginger has shot up to a whopping ₹240-376 a kg, while coriander prices have escalated to ₹90-170 a kg and green chillies are available at ₹68-75 a kg at the retail level, according to commodity traders that FE spoke to. The retail price of onions and potatoes, however, are manageable for now, at ₹25-37 a kg, traders said. Pradeep Shetty, president of the Hotel and Restaurant Association of Western India, says that eateries typically curb the use of pricey essentials in their menus as a temporary measure. "We try not to increase the selling price. The idea is to absorb the price rise and reduce the impact on the consumer. However, to manage costs internally, we reduce usage of the essential. It is used only when required," he adds.

Reliance Retail valued at ₹7.4-7.7 trn by EY, BDO

Both the global consultants were appointed by RIL. While E&Y valued RRL's shares at ₹884.03 per share, BDO Valuation Advisory's figure was ₹849.08 per share. This takes the company's valuation to a total of ₹7.42 and ₹7.72 trillion, respectively. RIL's proposal to buy shares at ₹1,362 a piece is at a premium of ₹477.97 and ₹512.92 a share as against that determined by the valuers. The proposal is subject to approvals from shareholders, which the company will seek through a special resolution, and the National Company Law Tribunal's Mumbai bench.

Earlier in 2020, Reliance Retail Ventures raised ₹47,265 crore ($5.72 billion) for a 10.09% stake in the company, valuing it at roughly $57 billion. Prior to that in 2019, RIL chairman Mukesh Ambani had said the group intends to list RRL - which operates 18,040 stores, supermarkets, fashion stores and online grocery store JioMart - along with its telecom arm, Reliance Jio Infocomm, in five years' time. Ahead of the announcement, RIL's share prices closed flat at ₹2,629 a share on the NSE on Friday.
